

ABSTRACT

A computerized project assessment system comprises a process planning data base, an actual progress information data base, a forecast model data base, a forecast computation device, a project assessment device and a display device of assessment result.